METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS—By Henry Ware, Optician, April 1:

FIRES YESTERDAY,-The alarm of fire at voo'clock yesterday afternoon was caused y the burning of an outhouse, near the cor-er of Park and Third-streets: and at eight o'clock in the evening by the ignition of the bed-clothes in a room of the Southgate House, corner of Sixth and Elm-streets. No damage of consequence was done in either

Another Robbert by Chloroform.— Night before last the dwelling-house of Mr. Simmonds, on Raco-street near Twelfth, was burglariously entered and robbed of $12 or $15 in money and a lot of wearing apparel valued at $20 or $30 more. Two of the inmates have no doubt, from the strangeness and peculiarity of their sensations, that chloroform was administered to them during sleep.

ARRESTS FOR ATTEMPING TO PASS COUN-ARBESTS FOR ATTEMPTED TO PASS COUNTESSEST MONEY.—Two boatmen, Jos. Kelley and Thos. Sexton, were lodged in the Ninthstreet Station-house last night, charged with attempting to pass a sparious one-dollar bill, at a drinking house on Fifth-street, between Plum and Central-avenue. They claimed to be ignorant of the character of the bill, and the probability is that the prosecutors will be the probability is that the prosecutors will be unable to establish a charge of felony against

A Lab Isstantly Killed by the Kick of a Horse.—A boy about twelve years of age, named Joseph Glenden, who resided with his father, a short distance from the city, in Columbia Township, was instantly killed, yesterday morning, by the kick of a horse which he was engaged in currying. The animal struck him, apparently, with both feet in the left side, crushing his ribs in such a manner as to cause his death within a few a manner as to cause his death within a few Man's Lif Bitten off in a Fight.—A couple of men, named Joseph Goodall and Thomas Cunningham, became involved in a difficulty on the corner of Everett-street and Cutter, yesterday afternoon, and after pummeling each other for some time, the latter seized the former by the lip with his teeth, and bit it entirely off. Both the parties were arrested and confined in the Ninthstreet Station-house; the one on a charge of maining, the other on a charge of assault and battery, and will appear before Judge Lowe for examination this morning.

A Bucchie Buckeys Adresstry Rossen,— A man named Henry Cunningham arrived in the city from Clermont County a few days ago, and while wandering about the river, day before yesterday, was met by a couple of men, whom he found quite agreeable as companions, and for whom he soon conceived panions, and for whom he soon conceived considerable fondness. They walked through the principal thoroughfares during the after-noon, and separated in the evening, appar-ently admirably pleased with their newlyently admirably pleased with their newlyfound acquaintance.

A short time after Cunningham arrived at his hotel he discovered that his port-monnaic, containing fifty-six dollars in gold, had mysteriously disappeared, and a light broke upon his mind that almost dazzled him. He concluded that his pocket had been picked, and we doubt not he was more than half right.
He had an appointment to meet his friends, but they did not come; and now feeling satisfied that he had been victimized, he determined to pocket his loss and return to his rural home, which he accordingly did early yesterday morning.

SINGULAR INFATUATION AND MYSTERIOUS SIGULAR INFATUATION AND MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE OF A LITTLE GIRL.—A little girl, about nine years of age, named Louisa Virginia Hale, disappeared very suddenly and misteriously from the residence of her mother, at No. 343 Central-avenue, last Saturday morning, and since that time, although diligent inquiry has been made, no tidings of her whereabouts have been received. She is suite intalligent. quite intelligent, precocious and talkative, and her mother, on several occasions, had permitted her to appear upon the stage in plays which required children of her age.

The gay dress and parade which she saw, only in the brilliant glare of the foot-lights, seemed to fascinate the child, and when she was not to appear before the audience she was not to appear before the audience, she would run away from home, wait about the entrance to one of the theaters, and, when an opportunity occurred, would avail herself of it, mix with a crowd which was passing in, and take a seat in front with all the sang froid of an old habitue of the establishment.

This became habitual; and after the close of the performance we have often seen her or of an old habitue of the establishment.

This became habitual; and after the close of the performance we have often seen her on her way home, sometimes in company with her mother, who had been ransacking the theaters to find her stage-struck daughter, and at others alone, passing along the street, repeating some passages she remembered from the play, and making all sorts of pompous gestures, or practicing absurd attitudes, to be found no where under Heaven save in theatrical representations.

Her long-continued absence has alarmed her mother, who is a widow, and extremely auxious of learning her whereabouts. She is quite fond of telling stories to excite sympathy, is never at a loss for something to say, and gives promise of having quite as much invention as Bocaccio or Cervantes. She has quite a neat little figure, short and straight, has blue eyes, brown hair, a good complexion, and was dressed, when she left home, in a blue muslin delain frock and blue silk bonnet.

We understand that Mrs. Hale intended to leave the city in a few days, to proceed to Philadelphia, leaving her erratic child, who has not yet reached her second lustrum, in the care of the Sisters of the Good Sheppard, until her return; but the pseudo actress seems to have taken advantage of her liberty to provide a place for herself. Her precocity is remarkable, and we would not be the least surprised to see her brought before the public within twelve months, under an assumed name, in the shape of one of those public nulsances yolept "infant phenomens."

Geor-> Maxwell, foreman; J. S. Wilson, Charles Sedam, Samuel Taft, Samuel Bailey, Frank Rothert, Jacob Gossen, W. C. Swift, William Bowell, John Cox, Hugh O'Donnell, Joshua Wadsworth, Julius J. Bantlin, J. W. Wallace, William Ireland.

The Grand Jury were charged at some length by Judge Carter. The Judge remarked, that as a Grand Jury was sworn each month, it was not necessary that at each session they should visit the Lunatic Asylum, the House of Refoge and City Infirmary. Every six months or every year would be sufficient to visit and report in relation to these establishments. The Jail, however, should be visited by every Grand Jury, and its condition reported upon.

After retiring to their room, the Jury adjourned their session until the following this internals.

MEETINGOF THE CINCINNATI HORTICULTURAL MEETINGOF THE CINCINNATI HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.—The Cincinnati Horticultural Society held its regular weekly meeting last Saturday evening President William Orange in the Chair. After the minutes of the previous meeting had been read and approved, Dr. J. A. Warder, as Chairman, read a portion of a very valuable, concise and suggestive Report of the Committee on the subject of Manure, which received the high and richly-deserved enlogies of the members present.

Mr. F. G. Carey, after expressing his great gratification with the report, remarked that manures deserved very much more attention than they have received, and are receiving, and said that he considered the use of liquid manure as very important, and too little attended to. One great advantage in its application, it that it acts much more rapidly than cation is, that it acts much more rapidly than solid manures. It is particularly useful in the garden in forming stocks and leaves, but is more difficult in seed-forming nourishment.

is more difficult in seed-forming nourishment. Water-tight tanks or cisterns are very desirable. The drainings should be much diluted. Sulphuric acid thrown on from time to time, will most beneficially arrest the valuable ammonia.

Mr. Cranch observed that by the use of liquid manures there was a great saving of labor—it was more in a pocket form. He used guano much weakened, at the rate of about six hundred pounds to the acre. The results were with him instantaneous and astonishing. If he used solid manure he would tonishing. If he used solid manure he would apply it in the fall.

Dr. Warder considered that manures in a

Dr. Warder considered that manures in a liquid form were much too little used. The applications should be much diluted. The great and scientific agriculturist, Mecchi, had gone so far as to underlie his farm with pipes for this purpose. His success on his land had always been great.

Mr. Reily proceeded to make some reports upon the condition of the peach crop with him. Out of 2,200 trees, he had 300 actually killed by the December sleet and frosts. These had been completely girdled by the frost, and the majority of his trees were more or less injured by it. The effects of the frost had been generally to girdle from two to four inches. Where there had been a live part or strip from the root, even for half an inch, the trees will recover, as he had found part or strip from the root, even for half an inch, the trees will recover, as he had found from the same effects produced by the worm. He had made bare the roots near the trunks last fall. This has made no material difference with the frost. He has found that this has not killed the grub. His land is rolling. Mr. J. P. Foote said that he knew from a reliable source that a weak solution of sulphate of iron had been successful against the worm.

Mr. Carey stated that spent tan bark had een found successful.

The Chair said that he had known chives

The Chair said that he had known chives or onions act as a preventative.

Mr. Charles Parnel exhibited a stalk of the Pie-plant raised under a barrel, the length of which was two feet nine inches, beside the leaf. It was also of a good thickness. It had been treated with liquid manure.

Apples were shown from the market, viz: Ladies' Sweeting, very delicate, and Swaar, excellent. The subject for discussion next Saturday will be Grafting of the Grape.

The following gentlemen were unanimously elected to membership, viz: Howard Mathews, proposed by R. Buchanan; Moses Palmer, by E. P. Cranch, and John D. Stillwell and Jas. Scott, by E. J. Hooper.

THE ARREST OF SAMUEL BRUST, THE MURDEREES—OUR CITY AUTHORITIES CHARGED WITH UNFAIRNESS.—Yesterday's St. Louis Democrat has the following comments on the late arrest of Brust, the murderer, and we give them for what they are worth:
"We have learned from good authority, that the Chief of Police of Clucinnati refused to deliver to officer Tunnicliff the money and belt which was found upon the person of deliver to officer Tunnicliff the money and belt which was found upon the person of Samuel Brust, the murderer of Smith. The money and belt is important as evidence against the accused, and why they should have been held we should like to know. The money, $1,200, has been placed in the hands of Mayer Bishop, of Cincinnati, who says that he will hold it for the heirs or executors of Smith. This, we believe, he has no right to do, as the money certainly belongs to Brust until it is proven to the contrary; and where is that proof to be obtained if not in this city, where the effects found on Brust should have been sent?

"The Chief of Police in this city, in consequence, has withheld the reward ($200) offered, until the matter is explained. We understand that the Chief of Police of Cincinnaticlaims the reward, whereas it properly belongs to the German who gave the information that led to Brust's arrest, and accompanied the officers from this city, and the German policeman, of Cincinnati, who helped the other German in making the arrest. Major Rawlings is ready to hand over the reward to these parties, but the officer in Cincinnati is not allowed to take it by his Chief. We think the proceedings of the officers in been sent? We think the proceedings of the officers in Cincinnati are not in strict accordance with the feeling that generally exist between the officials of sister cities."

The Election Yesterday.

The city and township elections passed off quietly yesterday in nearly all the Wards, the Fourth and Thirteenth, where all elections are only rendered legal by a variety of fights, of course excepted. Very little interest was felt, and all the Wards show a falling off of from one to three hundred votes the German Wards, except the Eleventh, being particularly behind. The vote shows a small Democratic victory in the city, but the Opposition Township Officers are doubtless elected. In the Eleventh Ward, by some peculiar circumstance, at present inexplicable, two hundred votes more were given than there were names on the poll-books, and a new election will be held there in consequence. We annex full returns below from all the wards except the Thirteenth, where the clerks adjourned before the vote was counted:

A CINCINNATIAN DROWNED IN THE KANAWHA RIVER.—A man named John Wilson, carpen-ter on the steamer Kanawha Valley, fell overboard, on Monday of last week, while overboard, on Monday of last week, while the boat was passing up the Kanawha River, about two miles above Cole's Mouth, and was drowned. Every effort was made for the recovery of his body, but without avail, and it is quite probable it will never be found. It is stated that the unfortunate man was a resident of this city, in which his wife and family still remain.

The Election.—Some of the candidates are elected, and, of course, others are defeated. But, this has nothing to do with the fresh Baltimore Oysters, to be found at all times at No. 11 West Fifth-street, Robert Orr, Agent.

A Prectous Patrico.—A fellow was arrested yesterday in one of the wards, who, we are informed, had voted four times. As he has been in custody, we learn, two or three times before on the same charge, it would be well to send him to Columbus. He doubtless endeavors to obey the Plug Ugly injunction: "Vote early; vote often!"

AMUSEMENTS.

PIKE's OPERA-HOUSE,-The Opera-Hou as we stated it would be, was closed last evening, for a dress reheared of the Predignt Son, which will be produced, for the first time, to-night, in magnificent style, and with a completeness and artistic regard to detail never, perhaps, equaled by any spectacle brought out on the stage of this country. The ballet, under the direction of Mousieur and Madame Bouxary, the fine music by Halevy, and the beautiful assets. fal new scenery, costumes and proporties, with the excellent cast of the drama, must render it attract-ive in the extreme, and should not fall to fill the wast Opera-Home every evening of its presentation.

Wood's Theaten.—This evening, The Last Days of Pompeis, dramatized from Bulwer's celebrated novel, will be presented at Wood's, with a local farce entitled The Ohio Girls, or the Clucianate

NATIONAL IREATES.—A great programme is offered at this house, this evening: the drams of The Last Days of Pempeii—also running at one of the other theaters—and the spectacular play of Faustia, both of which have been gotten up with much care and expense. Such a bill as this should prove magnetic to play-goers.

The Ohio underwent very little change here from Sunday afternoon until last evening; the depth of the water remaining nearly the same about nine feet hence to Louisville.

The river at Pittsburg yesterday was receding, with four feet six laches, and rising at Louisville, with five and a half feet.

There is now rather less water opposite this port than there was on Sunday night.

The weather was bright, balmy and beautiful yesterday, just cool enough to be pleasant without overcosts or five.

Business at the Landing was rather quiet vesterday, landy any of the boats or regular packets receiving large cargoes. The amount of freight offered, however, was fair in the aggregate and ruled at unchanged figures, which were as follows:

Pitthsurg.—Cotton, 73c.; Molasses, 73c.; Whisky, i.e., Flour, 25c.; Pork and Lard, 40c.; Pound Freights, 26c. per 100 flex, Whisky, and Oil, 43c. per barrel.

Rengelle.—Whisky and Oil, 40c. per barrel.

Naskrille.—Whisky, per bril., 73c.; Clover-seed, 40c.; Ale, 40c.; Flour, 5c.; Pound Freights, 2060c, per 10. Periodics.—Whisky and Oil, 50c. per barrel. Pound Freights, 2060c, per United States.—Whisky and Oil, 50c. per barrel; Pound Freights, 206, per 10. Pound 2c.; and other Pound Freights, 2630c, per 160 lbs.; Res Lard, Isc.; Horses $10 per head.

Particulars of the Burning of the Kare May. Yesterday's Louisville Journal observes:

She took the greater portion of her cargo on heard at Hemphis, which was destined for Clucinnati and other points above. The dispatch states that she caught from a spark from the steamer Union. This is a mistake. Capt. Rothrock, of the Union, informs us that he passed the Kate May on the Indiana side and the wind was blowing from the Kentucky side, When the fire broke out the Union was lying about a mile above the Kate May. Capt. Rothrock dropped the U. down and was about ordering his yawi out, when he observed the burning boat surrounded by skiffs, and he then landed, and his officers and the crew gave all the assistance in their power. Capt. Bruce, of the Kate May, is of opinion that the fire originated from a torch basket, which was used in making a landing at Cannelton. The chambermaid was missing, and it was feared that she was either burnt or drowned. The boat was new, and owned by Dean & Co., of Cincinnati, where we presums she is insured.—The fire extended to the old what-foot and two coal-flats belonging to the Newcomb Coal Mines, and they were also destroyed.

Our yesterday's Louisville exchanges also furnish these items:

The Asulo Saxon Arloat.—A telegraphic dispatch from Evansville states that the Anglo Saxon, which was scuttled to prevent her total destruction, has been raised, and is on her way to Cinciunati to be placed on the dock. Captain Hamilton, of this city, undertook the job by contract for $1,000. The Pacific reported at Memphis that three lives were lost by the catastrophe. The Pacific sent a yawl to the boat, with strict directions to bring off the women and children first. Three of the deck-hands, deaf to the pleadings of manly feeling, sprang for its they missed their object, and met, unpitied, their deaths.

New Camo Mau Arrangement.—The President and Directors of the Cincinnati and Louisville Mail Company, who own the Cairo Mail Line, Captain Fowler, of the Evansville and Paducah Rail Company, and the Henderson Packet Company met, in the contract of the Postoffice Department avoing been first obtained, it was streed, vechally, that from the lat of June the Henderson Racket Swanger transportation of the river mail between this and Cairo. The consent of the Postoffice Department having been first obtained, it was streed, vechally, that from the lat of June the Henderson packets carry the mail between this point and Evansville, and From Paducah to Cairo a daily mail packet is now running. This service is to be performed thrice a week. We believe the three boats engaged in this trade, which had been extending their trips to Memphis, have not been making anything during the past season, the railroads having got most of the travel. Hence the change. The Kembucky will probably be sold to the Memphis and Vicksburg Packet Company. The McLellan or Southerner will probably be sold to the Memphis, having of the river had believed that the ranson that place and Bells coal mines for several years.

OS First.—The steamer Meleven that place and Bells coal mines for several years.

Is a Sreum.—We learn that the Grey Engle, bound for New Orleans, was caught in a storn hear Shawmostown, and that her chimneys were blown down.

Yesterday's St. Louis Remblicon remarks, under date of Sunday evening:

The river here continues to evenl at the rate of one inch in twenty-four hours, and in all it has risen about three inches.

The last arrivals from below report aeven and a half feet in the channel out to Cairo. The Hilmols River is falling slowly, with alx feet in the channel to Peoria, and five and a half feet between Peoria and Lasaille. The Upper Missisppi is rising very slowly from a slight swell in the Wisconsin River, on the Upper Rapids there is three and a half feet water; on the lower Rapids there is three and a half feet water; on the lower Rapids there is three and a half feet water; on the lower Rapids there is three and a half feet water; on the lower Rapids there is three and a half seet water; on the lower Rapids the has arrivals from above report as on the lower mands there is not below the feet. The last arrivals from above report a swell in the Lower Rapids.

The Missouri River is falling slowly, with five and a half feet on the worst bars from Weston down. Above Weston, three feet water is all that can be found.

The weather was fine and cool yesterday; the min of Saturday night laid the dust.

Gold Discoveries.

St. Louis, April 2.—A dispatch from Yreka, California, says that some gentlemen concerned in Ish claim, near Jacksonville, Oregon, had arrived there, as route for the Atlantic States. A ledge of almost solid gold had been found in their claim twenty feet below the surface. Thomas Coronaugh, who owns a fifth interest in the claim, says the wealth of the Rothschild's would not tempt him to part with his share.

Indianapotis, April 2.—Municipal election. Republican ticket successful by an average LAFATETTE, April 2.—The election for Township Officers to-day resulted in the election of the entire Republican ticket, with the exception of a Justice of the Peace, by 60 to 200 majority.

Divorcing A Whole Territory.—The Kansas Legislature has granted one hundred and fifty bills of divorcement in forty days—finally the Legislature quit the retail business, and the House concluded to do a whole-sale operation, and immediately passed a bill divorcing all married persons in the Territory.

Mr. Davis's territorial resolutions were called up, when Mr. Saulsbury made a speech in opposition to the Republican party and its prospective nominee for the Presidency, Mr. Seward.

its prospective nominee for the Presidency, Mr. Seward.

Mr. Ten Eyek argued against the extension of slavery into the Territories, contending that no one had a right to interfere with it in the States, and saying it would have been abolished in many places had it not been for unwarrantable interference with it. He regarded the Fugitive-slave Law as constitutional, and said New Jersey would stand with the Middle States in repelling ultraism and extravagance, and urge upon her sister States to preserve the Union.

Mr. Wigfall held that the people of a Territory could not admit or reject slavery. He was opposed to starting new questions at this time, and would therefore vote for Davis's instead of Brown's resolutions, although he regretted any had been introduced.

The Discovery of the New Planet-Leverrier Acting as Astrologer for the French Emperor: The Paris correspondent of the New York Times writes thus from the former city on the 29th of February: the 29th of February:

For weeks the scientific journals have been filled with eulogiums of the modest Dr. Lescarbault, who, between his visits to his patients, and with the most imperfect instruments possible, found a planet which the observatories, with all their appliances of art, had failed to perceive. And yet M. Leverrier had predicted that such a body existed in a certain space indicated, and that the Observatory of Paris, and no doubt of other capitals, has been for several years seeking its presence, but it was reserved for an obscure country physiciau, in a remote and units presence, but it was reserved for an obscure country physician, in a remote and unheard-of village, to find the coveted planet. Let not the reader imagine, however, that the discovery was a mere matter of chance, the Doctor made his calculations according to the best principles of astronomical knowledge; he found his planet on the black-board before finding it in the heavens.

But when I say black-board it is a mere figure of speech, for when M. Leverrier went to pay a visit to the astronomical doctor, to see his calculations and his apparatus, he was astoniahed to find that the former were made on a pine board with a piece of charcoal, and see his calculations and his apparatus, he way astonished to find that the former were made on a pine board with a piece of charcoal, and this precious bit of rural science the learned Professor of the Observatory brought to Paris, and exhibited to his learned colleagues of the Institute. The fact is, the Doctor was too poor to furnish himself with either a black-board or the paper used for astronomical calculations, and he was in the habit, when his board got full, of planing it off. His calculations, as verified by M. Leverrier and the Institute, wonderful to relate, had but an error of four seconds. The government has paid to Dr. Lescarbault an honor it does not give hamilitary heroes or its distinguished men of any rank; with the decorations of the Legion of Honor was published in the Monitaur a notice of half a column, signed by the Minister, setting forth the claims of the Doctor to public admiration. The medical profession of Paris are raising by subscription enough money to buy him a set of astronomical instruments. The new planet has not yet received a name.

While the name of M. Leverrier is under the pen, a curious traditions occurs to memory in connection with him, which is not certainly generally known; and it is precisely on account of this tradition that he is sunposed to have guired position so rapidly under the present Empire. It is believed much more generally than one would suppose, and in very good society, too, that the distinguished mathematican is the official astrologer of the Court. According to this belief, Napoleon III never appoints a day for a feet, a grand review, a hunt, or any public ceremony whatever, without first consulting M. Leverrier, And since the sun is rarely at fault when these sholidays occur, the people of Miramon is here after the mininition, &c.
